COLLINS, ERIN LEADER, SLAIN BY ASSASSIN FROM AMBUSH

Murder Committed As Last Ditch Rebel Move

MESSAGE ISSUED

De Valera On Verge Of Giving Up, Report

(Reuter's Service)

London, Aug. 23.—In a message from Dublin it is officially stated that Mr. Michael Collins was the Irish Commander-in-Chief shot dead in an ambush today near Bandon.

The Chief of the Irish General Staff has addressed the following message to the army: "Stand calmly to your post, then brave and undaunted to your work. Let no cruel act of reprisal blemish your bright honor. Every dark hour Michael Collins met since 1916 seemed but to steel that brave strength of his and to temper his gay bravery. You are left each inheritors of that strength and bravery. To each of you falls his unfinished work, no darkness in hour, no loss of comrade will daunt you at it."

London, August 23.—The news of the tragic death of the Irish Commander-in-Chief is only beginning to appear. The latest editions of this morning's papers were received with sorrow and indignation in the limited circle reached up to the present. It is felt that the removal of Ireland's foremost constructive statesman casts a deeper shadow on the dark Irish situation.

Though the stirring but restrained message from the Army indicates that others are ready to take the burdens and dangers of the leadership which has so suddenly fallen from his and Mr. Griffith's shoulders, it is not doubted that these dangers are not small.

Saturday night's determined bombing and fusillading near Dublin of the car in which Mr. Collins was supposed to be, showed clearly the desperate state of mind into which their crushing defeat had plunged the extremists. It is reported that similar designs are entertained against other Ministers, while the guerilla warfare has become more intense in the last day or two. There were five ambushes on Monday and several yesterday in which a number of men were killed and wounded, showing, at any rate, that sections of the irregulars are determined to persist in the struggle to the last and not to shrink from the most desperate measures.

Yesterday's fatal ambush of Mr. Collins occurred in or near Bandon, a small market town in the South of County Cork, but details are still lacking.

London, August 23.—The Morning Post's Dublin correspondent telegraphing before the death of Mr. Collins was known, says that there was reason to believe that de Valera was about to issue a statement to his followers amounting to an admission that the attempt to establish a republic had definitely failed. It was understood that he would advise the irregulars to lay down their arms and agree to pursue their ideals by constitutional means.

Indian Sentenced For Carrying Gun

An unemployed Indian watchman charged with being in possession of firearms on Singkeipang Road Tuesday night was sentenced to fourteen days' imprisonment by Magistrate G. W. King of the British Police Court yesterday.

The accused was arrested after causing a disturbance and was found in possession of a Webly revolver and twenty rounds of ammunition. A Chinese witness declared that the Indian had pointed the weapon at him after he had been asked to direct the accused to a brothel. The Indian declared that the witness had given him the revolver.

The police asked that an order be issued for the Indian's deportation but the Court held that this could not be done on the present charge.

DOG DAYS STUFF

By Wesla

Tsingtao.

HONORABLE Dog: I see by the papers that you are stopping people on the street and asking them for dog stories. Well, here's one that even Slim Hanna never heard:

There was a blacksmith in the town of Rahway, New Jersey, who owned a dog that he claimed was not only intelligent, but also industrious and of an inventive turn of mind. In fact, the dogs you mentioned as having blown on the settee to cool it off had poor, puny intellects by comparison.

In speaking of his dog to a neighbor one day, and describing his great intelligence and industry, the blacksmith became quite eloquent. "Why," he said, "only yesterday my dog was here in the shop and when I threw a hammer at him he immediately made a bolt for the door."

"Huh," said the neighbor, "that's nothing! My dog would not demean himself by doing an odd chore like that. His is a master mind. He thinks only in terms of large projects. Why, only the other day he was making a disturbance in the house and when I kicked him out he immediately began to make tracks for the Lackawanna railroad."

Yours,
Harry C. Hill

PRETTY fair, Harry, ol' timer. Still, there was a Newfoundland dog owned by a fisherman up in Canada that had it on this Jim Hill hound you mention when it came to industry, although I regret to say that his labors were not as constructive as those of this Edward H. Harriman terrier you speak of.

It seems that this fisherman lost an arm in a saw mill accident one day, although what business he had in a saw mill, being a fisherman, is not quite clear in the records. But anyway, after losing his arm, the fisherman couldn't row his boat anywhere except in a circle, and so, to supplement his remaining flipper he rigged up a sort of shoulder harness for his dog, and by great patience and effort finally taught him to manipulate the other oar, which he accomplished by a sort of back and forward movement in the boat, stooping each time he brought the oar back in order to lift it out of the water.

Well, one day, aided only by the one armed fisherman, this dog went out and pulled up the St. Lawrence river.

THE PRINCIPAL witness for the prosecution deposes and says: The stands crabbed at both umps yesterday and a well-known writer in a morning contemporary, who judges balls and strikes from the press box and base decisions with astonishing accuracy (Vide Dog Days Stuff) although sitting 100 feet away from the plays and looking down on them from a 30 degree (more or less) angle tells the dear public this morning that the umpiring was terrible. He cites one decision of the base umpire. Admittedly a man in the press box cannot judge balls and strikes.

S. M. C. PLANS RICSHA QUIZ, PULLERS MAY WORK FOR CITY

Council To Conduct Broad Inquiry

A HARD PROBLEM

Facts Of Situation Set Forth In Gazette

Following upon recent sporadic strikes and other disturbances among ricsha workers the current number of the Municipal Gazette discloses that the Municipal Council is taking an active interest in the whole ricsha situation, for at a Council meeting on August 17 a grant of Tls. 5,000 for the benefit of the ricsha men was authorised and at the same meeting discussions published that a general inquiry is under way and the matter of making a municipal enterprise of the ricsha business, as has been suggested from many quarters, is being given serious consideration.

The grant of Tls. 5,000, if approved by the ratepayers, is to be turned over to Mr. G. Matheson. Recently he acquainted the Council with a project to build a new Ricsha Coolies Mission Hall that is engaging his attention. To carry this out he stated that he had available between $3,000 and $4,000 but needed for the purchase of a site and the erection of the hall between Tls. 10,000 and Tls. 11,000.

GOES INTO BUDGET

In view of the important service Mr. Matheson's Mission renders to the public the Council has taken the position that the Municipality should aid the new enterprise and therefore provision is to be made in the budget for next year for the donation of Tls. 5,000.

Concerning the inquiry into the ricsha situation and upon the subject of having the municipality take over the ricsha business in the International Settlement or a portion of it the Municipal Gazette says as follows:

"In view of the correspondence on the subject of the public ricsha service, which has appeared in the Press recently, the Council considers it desirable that publicity should be given to the fact that the means by which improvement of the service can be effected—using the term 'service' in its widest possible sense—has been engaging its attention for some considerable time past. The ricsha business is, however, an exceedingly complex one and sound decision as to the best course to adopt to attain the end in view can therefore only be reached as a result of very exhaustive study of the whole question.

"As many of the arguments advanced by those who have written to the Press are based on incorrect premises and ignorance of the conditions which have to be contended with, it is thought that the following facts may be of interest:

IS POOREST CALLING

"Public ricsha pulling is regarded by the Chinese as the poorest calling and few resort thereto as a means of livelihood unless compelled to do so through lack of other employment, and most abandon it as soon as opportunity for other work offers.

"Fluctuation in the ranks of the coolies (few of whom are Shanghai men and the majority new arrivals, quite unfamiliar with the conditions that obtain in a great city) is consequently constant and it is estimated, that at least 500,000 take to pulling public and private ricshas in the course of a year, although there are probably never more than 50,000 engaged in pulling during any one day, and never more than 27,000 at any one time.

"It is obvious that under such conditions it would be quite impracticable to introduce any system of licensing the coolie instead of the ricsha as has been suggested from time to time. Again with such a fluctuating body of men, direct contractual relations, i.e., direct relations between the ricsha owner and the coolie and thus direct control, would appear to be hardly feasible, though, if the statements frequently made as to the large profits earned by the ricsha owners are well founded, there would seem to be good reason why the existing hire rates to the

SOVEREIGNTY OF CHINA MENACED BY NUMBER PLATE

Council Put It Up—No. 200 Pingliang Road—Hsu Yuan Becomes Agitated

Affixing of a street number to premises on a Municipal Road outside of the limits of the International Settlement, which seemingly is held to be a flagrant violation of China's sovereign rights, is the subject of long correspondence involving the Council and the Consular Body that is published in the current number of the Municipal Gazette.

The number in question was placed on the recently completed plant of the Shanghai Silk Spinning Company at 200 Pingliang Road. Correspondence addressed to the Consular Body from Mr. Hsu Yuan, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs includes a detailed police report that describes how when the new plant was completed the Chinese police affixed a street number to the plant's entrance and how a few days later these same police were shocked to discover that another number had been put in place. It was also discovered that a shallow trence had been dug to lay power cables to serve the plant.

In the reply made on behalf of the Council by Mr. H. G. Simms, Chairman, the explanation is made that the numbering was done in accordance with a common practice and as a measure of convenience for all concerned. Mr. Simms adds, "I have the honor to observe that protests from the Chinese authorities against the numbering of houses on Municipal Roads are becoming of such irritating frequency that the Council can only conclude that they have for object the furtherance of a policy of obstruction, which characteristic as it was of the days of the old regime in China is surely anachronistic in these days of greater enlightenment when it would be natural to suppose that those commonly regarded considerations, which are so essential to the preservation of good relations, would influence the Chinese authorities concerned to show themselves more sympathetically disposed toward the Council."

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, August 22.—According to Le Temps, the negotiations in Berlin between the two delegates of the Reparations Commission, Sir John Bradbury and M. Mauclere, will be brief.

The delegates are opposing all attempts to extend the discussions beyond the question of a moratorium.

The newspaper adds that the guarantees they are insisting upon for a moratorium constitute the minimum and permit of no bargaining.

800,000 PEOPLE HOMELESS, SAYS SWATOW CABLE

Medical Supplies, Money And Food Needed Message Declares

There are 800,000 people homeless and destitute, many are sick or injured and there is urgent need for money, medicines and food in the typhoon smitten area about Swatow, according to a telegram received here yesterday by the Chinese Red Cross from one of the unit of doctors and nurses sent to Swatow from Shanghai.

The Shanghai contingent of relief workers, consisting of one foreign doctor and one foreign nurse and eight Chinese doctors and nurses, arrived at Swatow on August 19 the telegram stated, and were received with a heartfelt welcome by the relief organisations there. The message, the first received since the unit left two weeks ago, was necessarily brief, but it laid emphasis on the great need for the sending of medicine and surgical supplies and money for the care of the injured, sick and hungry. Clothing is also needed for the thousands whose homes and personal belongings were swept away by flood and wind.

The Shanghai unit, the message stated, was being despatched to Tenghai, a short distance northward along the coast from Swatow, where the destruction was great that district, it was declared suffering worst of any from the force of the storm.

In response to the word received the Chinese Red Cross committee, and the American Red Cross China Central Committee, are redoubling their efforts for the raising of funds here to succor the victims in the South. The Chinese Red Cross has already accumulated a considerable stock of medical supplies for shipment to Swatow and with more money coming in will add to that stock. The American committee now has over $6,000 on hand and contributions continue to come in. The American Red Cross officials, who have been anxiously awaiting word from Swatow regarding the character of relief expected, has again wired for information as to whether money or supplies shall be sent.

PREMIERSHIP TO AWAIT ACTION ON TANG NOMINATION

Dr. Koo Says Reunification Will be Slow Process

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Aug. 23.—Dr. Wellington Koo, interviewed by Reuter's correspondent yesterday afternoon, said that there was not likely to be any definite developments regarding the Premiership until Parliament voted on the nomination of Mr. Tang Shao-yi to the Premiership.

Parliament would soon take up this matter and he (Dr. Koo) and his colleagues hoped that the nomination would be confirmed. If that were done the post would be formally offered to Mr. Tang.

Meanwhile Dr. Wang Chung-hui was ill in hospital and no information had been received regarding the probable duration of his illness. It seemed unlikely however, that another Minister would be placed in charge of the Premiership affairs during Dr. Wang's illness.

He (Dr. Koo) had been informed that he was expected to preside at Cabinet meetings but this did not mean the taking over of the duties of the Premier.

The Government's three main planks, Dr. Koo continued, were:

(1) completion of the Constitution;

(2) the promotion of reunification;

(3) financial reorganisation.

The Government and Parliament were equally anxious for the completion of the Constitution, which would include the provincial system and would define the rights and privileges of the provinces vis-a-vis the authority and rights of the Central Government.

In the past, Dr. Koo declared, great confusion and strife had resulted from the absence of a complete Constitution.

As regards reunification Dr. Koo said that few people thought that it could be achieved quickly and the Government would be satisfied with any definite step marking substantial progress. There seemed to be grounds for hoping for that at least.

Asked whether Dr. Sun Yat-sen would be taken into serious consideration in this connection Dr. Koo pointed out that the President had sent a delegate to interview Dr. Sun and said that the Government's efforts would be directed towards reaching an agreement with all parties and leaders throughout the country.

The question of financial reorganisation appeared to present serious difficulties at the moment but if one looked forward a year or even half a year, Dr. Koo declared, the outlook was brighter. The immediate financial position was not pleasant. Funds were required to carry on until additional revenues were received. Parliament had to be maintained so that the Constitution could be drafted and the police and gendarmerie paid so that order should prevail and the salaries of official departments met so that the work of the Government should proceed. This question of immediate finances was engaging the attention of the Government and he had little doubt that it would be surmounted.

Financial reorganisation could not be introduced now but during the next half-year the Government intended to go into the question thoroughly and soundly and to draft a scheme which they trusted would place China's financial position on a new and satisfactory basis.

Dr. Wellington Koo concluded that while he did not overlook the difficulties ahead he was confident that they would be successfully overcome.

SUN YAT-SEN DECLARES WAR BETWEEN NORTH AND SOUTH IS NOW ENDED

Announcement Of Constitutionalist Leader Is Made To Delegation Of Members Of Parliament Which He Urges To Proceed To Peking Immediately

NO RECOMMENDATIONS TO MAKE

Kuomingtang Leader Says It Is No Part Of His Duty To Advise Them Concerning Their Course Of Action Regarding Cabinet Of Government

War between the North and the South which has divided China for the past six years is ended.

This is the definite statement that was made yesterday by Dr. Sun Yat-sen to a group of Members of Parliament who had called upon him to obtain a clear expression of his views upon the present situation.

Doctor Sun's announcement that strife between the North and South at length is concluded is based upon understandings that have grown out of conferences he has been holding since his arrival from Canton with representatives of every dominant political and military group in China and it follows acceptance of the principles of the manifesto he issued on August 15 by Gen. Wu Pei-fu, the Chihli chieftain.

The Members of Parliament who waited on Doctor Sun yesterday and received the announcement from him all are loyalists to constitutional cause and members of the group said that they had been waiting here before proceeding to the Capital to obtain direct personal assurances from the man they hold to be the only present legal President of China. All of the provinces of the country, north and south, were represented in the delegation.

In presenting the announcement Doctor Sun made no disclosures of importance concerning the negotiations that have been going forward in the conferences he has been holding. He told the group of legislators however that it is their duty to proceed to Peking without delay as the military obstacles that hitherto have made impossible sessions of Parliament at the Capital now have been removed.

All of the lesser problems of the Constitutionalist cause, in themselves of high importance to the nation, he told his callers now must be threshed out on the floor of parliament.

In advising the legislators to proceed to Peking it was significant that Doctor Sun refrained entirely from making any recommendations concerning future course of action on the part of the legislators. He told them, in fact, that he would not discuss questions of personnel of the government or advocate any line of policy concerning the naming of a cabinet or voice any view on questions of what they are to do. Their present duty, he said, is to go to Peking and take up the problems of the country there.

Of the hundred-odd legislators who have been remaining here since coming from Canton a score or more have gone on to Peking and it was said early today that the remaining sixty-odd, inspired by Doctor Sun's advice, are arranging to leave immediately for the Capital.

There seems to be no doubt that Dr. Wellington Koo has declined to act as Premier.

SAYS BOOTLEGGER IN NEW YORK GAVE HIM BAD MONEY

Chinese Who Sold Wine Given Two Year Sentence

The plea that he had been cheated by an American bootlegger at Brooklyn, New York, was submitted in the Mixed Court yesterday by Zau Ah-tung, seaman on the steamer Esther Dollar charged with trying to pass 13 counterfeit American bank notes, but the plea failed to save him from a two years' prison sentence.

Zau was arrested on August 8 after he had sent a youth, one Yue Tsoong-fah, to an exchange shop at 3248 Seward Road with what purported to be twenty $10 American notes to be changed into Mex. Thirteen of the notes proved to be of $2 denomination raised to $10 by the crude superimposition of a bit of paper over the original numeral.

Mr. J. W. Shoenfeld, for the defendant, raised the question of jurisdiction, contending that his client was serving on a British vessel and was therefore amenable to the jurisdiction of the British Court. He quoted extensively from various authorities, but Assessor Mead and Magistrate Loh held that the accused was charged with an offense committed on Chinese soil, was himself a Chinese and could be dealt with therefore only in a Chinese court.

The defendant's story was that he had taken with him to America forty bottles of Chinese wine. These he sold to a dealer who came alongside in a lunch while the ship was in New York. The dealer passed the money up and left and the seller did not know that part of the money was bad. The Assessor inquired if such a quantity of wine were worth $200 gold, to which Mr. Schoenfeld replied that since America was a prohibition country the lot would be considered cheap at the price.

Zau was given two years' imprisonment, with a year suspended sentence, and the Chinese youth who attempted to cash the money was ordered to give bond of $200 to be of good behavior for two years. Detective Sergeant Tinkler conducted the case for the police.

Russian Musician Charged With Theft

D. P. Sposito, Russian musician living at 1 Hannen Road and employed at the Oriental Gardens, appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday and was charged with larceny of $97 from the Royal Cafe on Brenan Road and with breaking glassware in the place valued at $10 on the morning of August 22.

Detective Sergeant Conduit testified that a report was received by the police at about 5 a.m. and that investigation revealed that several foreigners had left the cafe in motor car No. 3473. The chauffeur was located and took the police to the Hannen Road address at which he had left his fares. When questioned Sposito stated that he had been drunk and did not remember anything that happened. The manager of the cafe, Tsang Han-zing, stated that he had seen the accused take the money, after which a disturbance was started and the glassware was smashed.

The case, which came before Assessor Mead and Magistrate Loh, was remanded for hearing before the Senior Consul's Assessor.

LI WANTS SUN TO HEAD CONFAB ON INTERNAL AFFAIRS

Cabinet Still On Strike Despite Payment Of Month's Salary

(Dah Tong News Agency)

Peking, August 23.—President Li Yuan-hung is planning to call a Conference on National Affairs to be attended by representatives of the various provinces. He suggests Dr. Sun Yat-sen as the chairman for the conference. On account of his opposition against the old Parliament, General Wu Pei-fu has also signified his approval of the scheme.

Despite the payment of one month's salary, the staff of the Cabinet remains on strike yesterday. Only Chang Yao-tseng and Lo Hsin attended the meeting yesterday. No decision was made.

Acting Premier Wang Chung-hui has sent an autographed letter to the representatives of the government teachers, saying that since he is incapable of raising any funds for education, he is obliged to resign from his concurrent position as Minister of Education. Meanwhile the teachers are again after the scalp of Kao En-hung, Minister of Communications, who has returned from Peitaiho.

It is reported that Chang Tso-lin has despatched 200 expert gunners from Chinchow to Shanhaikwan to man some of the strategic points in the vicinity.

Chinese In Tokio 'Advised' To Leave

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Aug. 23.—In reply to inquiries as to the policy of the police with regard to Chinese laborers the Consul at Yokohama, in the absence of the Chinese Minister, has been assured that not more than 30 Chinese in Tokio have been advised to leave the country. The police acted on orders from the home department, while investigations are proceeding with regard to the other Chinese colonied in Japan. The Consul asked for a definite statement regarding the right of Chinese laborers and peddlers, some of whom it is alleged have been refused admittance to reside in Japan.

Japanese merchants fear that this agitation will casue a renewal of the anti-Japanese boycott in China.

HOW TO "GROW" ANEW COMPLEXION

These are the days of "hustling." In a week we see and do more than our grandmothers did in a year. We are gradually turning nature to be our servant; we use her great forces against herself. We have conquered sea and sky, now our doctors are fighting not only disease, but old age. There is talk of rejuvenating human beings by the injection of animal glands, but as yet, only the few can avail themselves of the treatment.

There is, however, one secret of perpetual youth that is in the reach of everyone. Scientists now realise that the only way of keeping the skin young and fresh is to examine Nature's methods and to find some way of imitating her.

SCIENTIFIC BEAUTY.

In order to explain the new method of keeping the complexion perpetually youthful, one must understand something of the nature of the skin. A baby's skin is always clear and smooth because the outer layer is always invisibly peeling off, and new layers are forming just as fast underneath, so that the exposed skin is always fresh, unwrinkled and "new."

For the first few years of our lives, this peeling is a purely natural process, but as we grow older, we gradually lose the power of throwing off our old soiled outer skins, so that our complexions become lined and yellow, and the new skin has no chance to show itself.

A few years ago, a scientific chemist realised that a little-known substance called mercolised wax, was exactly what was needed to "keep nature up to the mark." It appears that this substance, which is now universally obtainable, gently and painlessly assists nature in throwing off the soiled outer cuticle. The skin is thus perpetually renewed, and a clear youthful complexion can be preserved to any age. (Advt.)

coolies should be reduced to some extent.

ROOM TO IMPROVE

"In any case the Council is very definitely of the opinion that a better service could and should be provided, and, as the ricsha owners generally appear to be unwilling or unable to provide such service, consideration has been and is still being given to the possibility of Municipal ownership either as regards the whole of the ricsha service or possibly to a limited extent only.

"It is believed that what little has been stated above should suffice to show that not only is the whole question a very difficult one, but also that any action would be very ill-advised until the Council has completed its investigations, when the conclusions reached and the recommendations made will be published.

"Finally as the Council has been criticised for its refusal to sanction a recent application for licences for a number of ricshas to be reserved exclusively for the use of foreigners it may be stated that such a service was actually inaugurated in 1917 with the Council's approval, but proved a failure in spite of every effort to ensure success."

Cholera Held In Check, Says Department Report

Although the death rate—both among foreigners and Chinese—was rather above the average, says the Health Department's report for July, yet there was no feature of the public health of a specially noteworthy nature.

Of the 27 deaths among foreign residents, 14 were among Asiatics other than Chinese, including 11 Japanese, 1 Korean, 1 Indian and 1 Filipino.

Cholera, which made its reappearance in June, continued during the month with moderate severeity, but in no sense became epidemic; that is to say it did not affect a large proportion of the community in a short period of time.

Eight foreign cases were verified bacteriologically in the laboratory, but only one of these was from within the Settlement; that was the case of an Indian watchman from a Cotton Mill in Yangtszepoo Road, who died of the disease.

Of Chinese cases, 192 from within and without the Settlement were verified bacteriologically, and from within the Settlement altogether 241 cases were admitted to the Municipal Isolation Hospital for Chinese and the Chinese Red Cross Cholera Hospitals in Thibet and Tientsin Roads.

MORTALITY 15 PERCENT

The mortality with modern treatment of saline infusion was about 15 percent.

Cholera was first known in India, in the delta of the Ganges, hence it is usually called Asiatic Cholera; but there is hardly a country in the world that has not suffered, at some time or other, from its ravages, and it is a serious menace in Europe at this present period of disorder and distress.

Protection is a matter of personal hygiene, and it is perfectly possible to live in the midst of a raging epidemic without contracting the disease.

The source of infection is in man, and the path of infection, the path of man's excretions. From these infection may easily be carried to food and drink by fingers or flies, and if not destroyed will certainly cause the disease.

Safety lies in strict observance of the Public Health Notices concerning food and drink, and the prevention of Choleraic Diarrhoea.

The immunity produced by an attack of cholera does not last long, but a considerable amount of protection lasting at least several months, may be produced by inoculation with cholera vaccine such as that prepared in the Municipal Laboratory. This is specially valuable for travellers and others who cannot control their food and drink supplies, and for doctors and nurses specially exposed to infection.

During the month a survey of mosquitoes in and around the Settlement was made, and specimens of Anopheles—the malaria bearing mosquito—were found in the Eastern and Western districts.

Special representations were made to the Chinese Authorities through the dumping of coffins near the Kiaochow Road: also concerning the foul and pestilential condition of the creek on the borders of the Settlement along the Dixwell Road.

Spence And Chalmers Deny Insurance Fraud Charges In British Supreme Court

Story Of Issuance Of Policies In Names Of Two Imaginary Companies Told By Mr. A. G. Mossop For Prosecution As Trial Opens

Trial began yesterday before Judge Peter Grain in the British Supreme Court of A. M. Spence and George V. Chalmers who according to the police launched the biggest insurance fraud ever perpetrated in China by issuing a large number of policies in the names of companies that did not exist when they had no other resources than policy forms and a wealth of printed literature.

The prosecution in the case is being conducted by Mr. A. G. Mossop, Acting Crown Advocate and Mr. J. G. Priestwood is appearing for Chalmers. Spence is undertaking his own defense without counsel. The jury before which the trial is being held is composed of Messrs. R. W. Skinner E. P. Pitcairn, E. B. Forsyth, J. W. Woodford, and E. Noakes.

THE CHARGES

The amended charges are as follows:

1.—That the two accused together on divers days between April 5 and July 11, 1922, at Shanghai conspired together and with other persons unknown to defraud such persons as should be induced to pay money as premiums to the German-American Fire and Marine Insurance Co. of Baltimore, Maryland, or to the World Insurance Underwriters of Jersey City, New Jersey, by false representations that the said companies were genuine fire insurance companies, contrary to Common Law:

2.—That the accused Chalmers on or about July 4 at Hankow unlawfully, knowingly and designedly did falsely pretend to one Daniels de la Vega that he was then carrying on a genuine and bona-fide business: to wit, that of an agent for two genuine and bona-fide insurance companies by means of which pretence he did on July 5, 1922, at Hankow unlawfully obtain from the said de la Vega the sum of $1,430.06 with intent to defraud whereas in truth and in fact he did not then carry on a genuine and bona-fide business of agent for two genuine and bona-fide insurance companies as he well knew at the time that he did so falsely pretend, contrary to the Larceny Act, Section 31.

Following a detailed opening statement which was given by Mr. Mossop, who intimated that a large number of witnesses would be called by the prosecution, Frank F. Bowe, who was involved in commercial enterprises with the two accused and who is himself on trial on a criminal charge in the United States Court for China, was called as the prosecution's first witness. A second witness also called was Mr. A. P. Chase of the Asia Life Insurance Company. After pleas of not guilty had been made by both defendants Mr. Mossop outlined what the prosecution purposes proving against the two.

The case was one of conspiracy, he said, while Chalmers was also charged with obtaining money under false pretences. Conspiracy was a common law of offence and consisted in an agreement by two or more persons to do an unlawful act or to do a lawful act by unlawful means. It very rarely happened that charges of conspiracy could be proved by direct evidence. The evidence generally was circumstantial and the guilt or innocence of the accused must be inferred.

REVIEWS CASE

The affair started in last February, the Crown Advocate said, when the two accused were living in Frederick's Hotel, outside the Settlement. At the hotel at that time there was living Frank F. Bowe, an American citizen, who would be prominent in this case. On March 17, Bowe moved to a house in Peitaiho Lane, and the two accused accompanied him. They took rooms with Bowe and they had a common mess. At Peitaiho Lane, Bowe had the intention of going to America and there incorporate two insurance companies, the first to be called the German-American Fire and Insurance Company and the other the World Underwriters Insurance Company.

These companies, the prosecution alleged, never had existed and did not exist at the present. While at the Peitaiho Lane house, Bowe came to an arrangement with Chalmers to give to him the agency in China of these companies when incorporated. For this Chalmers was to pay Bowe Tls. 500. Bowe told Chalmers that it was clearly understood that no business was to be done until Bowe cabled from America to say that the Companies were incorporated or in the event of Bowe returning to China himself.

Bowe had no direct negotiation with Spence in the matter. Bowe would also say that Spence was present at these with Chalmers and that Spence and Chalmers knew that these companies were non-existent at that time. On March 24 an advertisement appeared in a Chinese newspaper, Sin Wan Pao, for a compradore.

A Chinese would be called who would say that he saw the advertisement and being out of a job and having previous experience in the marine insurance business answered it. His name was Chen, and he eventually became the comparadore. He could not speak English and so obtained the assistance of Dzung. They received a reply from Petaiho Lane, asking the writer to call and both Chen and Dzung called there, where they saw both the accused. They did not see Bowe but they saw a man called A. P. Chase.

After several interviews with Chalmers on April 5, twelve days after the advertisement appeared, Chen signed the agreement with the accused, Chalmers, who signed as manager for the Celestial Mercantile Company, an import and export business, which Chalmers carried on or proposed to carry on. The compradore deposited Tls. 1,000 although Chalmers first insisted on Tls. 3,000. Chalmers obtained two rooms at 8 Kiangse Road, which he rented from a Mr. Howard, representing the Globe Trading Company.

BOWE LEAVES

In the meantime Bowe had gone to Chefoo, with the object of eventually going to the United States. From Chefoo he was to proceed to Dairen and from Dairen to Japan and then to the States. At Chefoo Bowe was arrested by the United States authorities on a charge that had nothing to do with this case. While Bowe was away the two accused went to Kiangse Road and started business with these two insurance companies. Before Bowe left for Chefoo he ordered certain stationery and certain policies to be printed in Shanghai so that everything would be ready when these insurance companies were formed in the United States. These policy forms were delivered to Petaiho Lane and subsequently without his knowledge or consent removed to 8 Kiangse Road where they were used.

There was also another man on the scene known as Wallace. Wallace had known Chalmers previously as he worked for him at Vladivostok in 1921 as a shipping agent. Early in May he was selling paper on commission and met Chalmers one day in the street. Chalmers asked him to call round at his office the next day as he was also interested in paper. Wallace went round the next day but no business resulted with Chalmers, who eventually engaged him as manager of the fire department of the Celestial Merchantile Company after consultation with Spense, on a salary of Tls. 200 per month and commission, his duties to consist in looking after the German-American and the World Underwriters Insurance Companies.

The two accused told Wallace that these companies were registered in America and had a capital of over a million dollars. Wallace had previous insurance experience, and shortly after this engagement he went on Chalmer's instructions to Ningpo for the purpose of viewing the territory and obtaining agents. On the eighth of that month Wallace with the compradore and the compradore's clerk went to Hangchow and appointed agents there. About the beginning of June Chalmers together with Wallace and the compradore's clerk went to Nanking and appointed agents there.

U. S. AUTHORITIES ACT

About the middle of May, advertisements appeared in the Chinese press and which were put in by the compradore under instructions from Chalmers and Wallace. These advertisements stated that the companies were of long standing and the capital of each was $1,500,000 and agents were required in numerous outports.

As a result of these advertisements the American Executive Consul, M. F. Perkins, wrote a letter to Wallace, whose name appeared in the advertisement as the manager, asking for particulars of the two companies as the advertisement stated they were American companies, and threatening that unless particulars of their authenticity were not furnished the matter would be referred to the Municipal authorities.

Wallace gave the letter to Spence, who drafted the reply, in which Wallace wrote to Mr. Perkins to state that he was appointed by Spence as manager, and that Spence was the agent of these two companies.

That did not satisfy the American authorities and the same day Mr. E. S. Cunningham, U. S. Consul General, wrote saying that Wallace's name appeared in the advertisement, and that he was really responsible, and threatening at the same time that the matter would be placed in the hands of the United States District Attorney, Mr. L. Husar. Spence went and saw Mr. Husar the next day, June 14, and informed him that he had the power of attorney, the articles of association, etc., and promised to bring along these the next day for Mr. Husar's inspection. These papers were never submitted to Mr. Husar. Spence wrote a further letter to Mr. Husar informing him that he had cabled to America to the head offices of the two companies for the articles of association and the power of attorney.

Copies of these cablegrams were enclosed in the letter and one was addressed with names which were contractions of the names of the two companies. The manager of the Commercial Pacific Cable Company would be called to show that he had written to the German-American Fire and Marine Insurance Company and the World Underwriters' Insurance Company at their offices at Kiangse Road, informing them that the cablegrams could not delivered as the addressees' names were not registered.

CHALMERS WRITES

On June 14 the American Chamber of Commerce wrote a letter to these companies mentioning that the Chinese newspaper, Sin Wan Pao, had an advertisement that the two companies were American, and requesting them to furnish particulars, balance sheets, annual reports, etc., as soon as possible.

Spence drafted the reply and this stated that the full particulars asked for would be furnished and thanked the American Chamber of Commerce for the interest shown in the two companies.

On June 21 Chalmers, Wallace and the foreign-speaking clerk, Dzung, went to Hankow for the purpose of opening agencies and Wallace would tell the Court what happened at Hankow.

At a Chinese dinner there which they attended they came across a man named Vega with regard to this insurance company's agency and after certain negotiations Chalmers typed out an agreement whereby Vega was appointed agent and he paid for this Tls. 1,000.

The agreement was dated July 4. The case of the prosecution was that Chalmers took that Tls. 1,000 or $1,423, knowing perfectly well that there were no such companies in existence. It was by false pretences that he obtained this money. They came back from Hankow to Shanghai on July 7, and Wallace was arrested on July 10 on the complaint that some one made at Tientsin. The Police then got on the track of Spence and Chalmers and they were arrested.

Mr. Mossop concluded his address to the jury as follows: "These two bogus companies which were carried on at 8 Kiangse Road by Chalmers and Spence and Wallace as manager between May 18 when the first policy was issued, up to the time of the arrest of Wallace on July 10, issued 330 policies covering risks approximately valued at half a million taels. The premium on these risks were approximately Tls. 7,000, of which they actually collected Tls. 1,145. In addition to this they had the compradore deposit of Tls. 1,000, and the compradore also advanced $3,105 to the Companies and to Chalmers Tls. 534 and in addition they had the thousand taels of Vega. They had no capital, no head office and no company."

BOWE ON STAND

Frank F. Bowe testified that he had been in China ten years. He knew Chalmers two years and a half when he was with a firm named Turner, Lester and Company. Chalmers came to him in November of last year then and accepted the position of import manager for Frank F. Bowe and Company.

Chalmers continued in this post until the first week of January, when the business was closed. In February of this year, witness lived at Frederick's Hotel on Jukong Road. There he met Spence. On February 17 Chalmers was in the hospital.

Bowe said: "I moved on March seventh to 1 Peitaiho Lane. Chalmers lived with me. At this time I was preparing to go to the United States to incorporate the German-American and the World Underwriters Insurance companies and do all preliminary work in connection with these companies. The names of these companies were decided by the promoters and myself. I explained to Chalmers I had prospective companies and that after

If You Worry, Read This.

Useful Hints For Dark Days

Worry never brought any good to anybody. Still, you say, "I don't worry because I want to; it is because I can't help it;" or "I have so much to worry about."

We all have our troubles, and worry, of course, makes matters worse. The patient generally recognises this fact without being influenced in any way by it.

The doctor who could meet this nervous condition and cure it would be the most popular man alive. He cannot do it, however, because the form of nervous exhaustion known as neurasthenia of which worry is a characteristic symptom, must be cured to a large extent by the patient.

But as the nerves depend upon the blood for nourishment, it naturally follows that by reinvigorating the blood the patient is tackling the actual root of the trouble. And that is why Dr. Williams' pink pills have proved so successful in cases of neurasthenia and nervous debility, for they supply the pure rich blood necessary to feed the nerves.

You should send today for the book, "The Nerves and Their Need," and read the chapter on neurasthenia. Many people have written, "This describes my case exactly; I am trying the treatment and being benefitted." A copy will be sent free if you write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

You can begin to get well now, for Dr. Williams' pink pills are to be obtained of most dealers; or direct from above address, $1.50 per bottle, $8 six bottles, post free. For men and women too.

DIXWELL ROAD PEOPLE MENACED BY PLAGUE SPOT

Consular Body Urged To Ask Chinese Authorities To Grant Relief

In support of an appeal of residents of the Dixwell Road district the Municipal Council through its Chairman, Mr. H. G. Simms, has addressed the Consular Body asking it to urge the Chinese authorities to grant relief from the insanitary condition of Dixwell Road Creek which menaces the health of the whole district.

The creek is the boundary between the Settlement and Paoshan. At the time the Dixwell Road Extension was established several years ago an effort was made to have the creek filled in and embodies in the road, but the Chinese authorities objected, holding that the creek was natural boundary. Since then much of the waterway has filled in and the rest of it is so choked that it no longer is tidewashed.

As the petition of the residents of the district describe it the creek is a plague spot, choked with filth and decaying rubbish and full of stagnant pools that make breeding places for bluebottle flies and swarms of mosquitoes. The stench polluted the entire neighborhood.

In the letter of the Council to the Consular body the fact is emphasised that " 'Frequent requests by the Health Department to the Chapel and Paoshan authorities to remedy the state of the creek, have resulted in no improvement whatever," and in this connection Mr. Simms says further that the Council's employes have been precluded from carrying out anti-mosquito work by threats of arrest.

GEN. WU CHARGES CHANG KUO-KAN WITH TREASON

Loyang Chief Asks Punishment For Former Minister Of Interior

Charging Chang Kuo-kan, former Minister of Interior, with treason, assault and battery, General Wu Pei-fu despatched on Monday a telegram to the acting premier, demanding heavy punishment of Chang in accordance with law.

General Wu alleged that Chang intrigued with militarists in 1917 to cause the downfall of President Li Yuan-hung; he further charged Chang with having allied himself with the notorious monarchists, Yang Tu and Hsueh To-koo, to court the favor of certain political leaders and with advocating a form of self-government which obstructs the union of the nation and assaulting a member of the Cabinet (Tung Kang) for personal grievances.

It will be remembered that former Minister of Finance Tang Kung was beaten up by the members of the "salary demanding brigade" while in office and was forced to retire from political life as a consequence. General Wu's telegram connects Chang Kuo-kan with the plot.

Spence And Chalmers Deny Insurance Fraud Charges

I had incorporated them, I would join him, and Chalmers would be the agent for all China. He was to pay a sum of Taels 500 under an agreement. I was to get the Taels 500 before going to the United States. I never received this money. I had all the policies and all sorts of stationery and warranty slips printed.

TOOK NAME OF CHAPMAN

"I was instructed by the promoters to bring to the United States the form actually used in Shanghai. I left Shanghai early in May and went to Chefoo, going to Japan from Chefoo. I was going to Chefoo for silk samples and used the name Chapman there until such time as I obtained an office. I did not want it known that I was in Chefoo to buy silk.

"I was arrested by the United States authorities and brought down to Shanghai. When I went to Chefoo I left the policies and warranty slips in the house on Peitaiho Lane. I left nobody in charge of these and I had ceased living there. I took samples of the policies with me to Chefoo. Neither Spence nor Chalmers had any authority from me to do business for these companies. I met Wallace twice or three times in Peitaiho Lane but had no business dealings with him."

Cross-examined by Mr. Priestwood, Bowe said that the business of Frank F. Bowe and Company, incorporated, was of considerable extent, including insurance business.

The company was under his control, he said, and there was a board of directors. In answer to questions, Bowe said "I stood well with the banks here and very well with the Asia Bank in New York. I had references in every city in America. When the business was wound up I had a number of import and export agencies.

HAD AN IDEA

"I had letters of introduction to four insurance companies in the United States. Chalmers was in my employ at the time. I did not hand over to Chalmers any import or export agencies. When I was living at Peitaho Lane, the idea struck me to float the two companies: The German American and World Underwriters insurance companies. The promoters of these two were not associated with the four American companies to which I had letters of introduction.

"How often did you see Chase?" asked Mr. Priestwood.

"When he wanted something for nothing, he came around."

"Had you anything to do with the advertisement for the compradore?"

"I put that advertisement in the papers 60 to 90 days before we intended to do business."

"Not only did you print these policies prospectively but you also desired to engage a compradore?"

"They had no money to pay for the advertisement so I paid. I had nothing to do with the engagement of the compradore. I knew he was for insurance business."

"Why, if you only wanted a sample, was it necessary to print extensively in Shanghai?"

"Yes, it was."

Witness said he left the house in Peitaiho Lane on April 27 and left for Chefoo between May 4 and 7. He said that he gave no instructions to take the printed matter to Chalmers. Witness denied having any connection with Wallace regarding these insurance companies. He knew Chalmers engaged a compradore, but asserted Chalmers could do no insurance business until witness had cabled from America.

"Could it have been possible that Chalmers thought these two insurance companies formed part of the four to which you had introductions?"

"He might have thought they were."

CROSS-EXAMINATION OPENS

Spence here took up the cross-examination as he was not represented by a lawyer. In answer to questions from Spence, Bowe said Spence had no dealings with him in regard to the insurance business

The Crown Advocate, on redirect examination, brought out that the four insurance companies in America to which Bowe had introductions, are in existence. Bowe hoped to get the agencies for them, he said.

Two fire and one life insurance companies were mentioned in the advertisement. Witness was negotiating with Chase on the fire companies. Chase told witness he was representing the Asia Life Insurance Company.

Parbury And Mansel Smith Draw In Tennis Match For Charity - 6-3, 1-6, 4-6, 7-5

Champion Meets Beautiful Opposition, Darkness Stops The Play

V. H. Parbury, singles champion of the Shanghai Lawn Tennis association for 1922, and Mr. W. Mansel Smith for many years rated with the best in Far Eastern Singles gave a brilliant exhibition match yesterday afternoon on the S. C. C. court, in benefit of the Swatow Relief Fund. The play was drawn at darkness at two sets all. The score were 6-3, 1-6, 4-6, 7-5, Parbury taking the first and the last sets.

Mansel Smith played the 1922 singles champion beautifully throughout the match. His strong and easy back hand, his fine length and his great ease in covering the base-line territory had Parbury hustling throughout. He was in a fair way to taking the match in the fourth set when with games at 4-all he beat Parbury on his service on a nice placement and three errors by the champion, but a period of inaccurate play in a bad light gave the next three games to Parbury leaving the match drawn at the end of the set and further play impossible.

Seven or eight hundred tennis enthusiasts attended the play, though it was estimated that a thousand tickets had been sold. The Cricket Club management had provided accommodations for 1,200 spectators. The rival attraction on the baseball field probably accounted for the poor attendance. A good sum however was realised for the typhoon sufferers.

The players took their services in the first four games of the first set. Mansel Smith took the fifth game after a deuce reached wholly on errors, on Parbury's one net after long and clever exchanges and Parbury's one wild out. Parbury ran the set out on several good placements from forecourt position, and errors by Mansel Smith.

Mansel Smith in the second set played his better game. He kept to the back court as in the first set and with beautiful judgment forced a long driving game, which, however he interspersed with finely placed lobs. Parbury undertook often to follow up to the net, but on the whole he lost rather than gained at that style of play, for his opponent varied every stroke so that the forecourt position was made too difficult.

Games were one all in the second set when Mansel Smith took five straight and the set. He scored mostly by Parbury's errors, but with several service points and placements, combined with Parbury's inability to get his service balls in on two serves the set was fairly easy at 6-1.

Play in the third set found most every point decided only after a dozen or more strokes. Both men played carefully and well, with the final error or occasional placement bringing out good applause. Mansel-Smith took the first three games almost wholly on Parbury's errors. Parbury took the next two games on a placement and three errors of Mansel Smith in each instance. Errors more than anything else brought the set to 4-all. The ninth game went to two deuces before Parbury netted one and outted a high lob from Mansel Smith. Mansel Smith took the final game and the set on two clever placements and two nets by Parbury.

In the final set the light failed and errors were plentiful. In the 11th game Mansel Smith came up to the net for his first try at the fore court-volleying game against the 1922 champion. He beat the champion on the play, with a fast pass after thrilling exchanges, but lost the game on his succeeding two nets and two outs. The last game after two deuces went to Parbury on Mansel Smith's two nets.

Shanghai Cops In Final Game With Soldiers; Two Homers Feature Contest

Fort Mills Unable To Hit Griffith, While Locals Bat Freely

By Westa

JUST as Major Dent and his troupe of performing athletes from Manila had about made up their minds that the pickings were pretty easy in this town, and that it might be worth their while to stay here for the winter, what does Hoppy's gang up and do but bust them one on the beak?

This shows that in those earlier games we were simply leading them on. As a matter of fact we could have licked the tar outen that outfit every time we played them if we had wanted to, but knowing what a terrible thing it is to have to live in Manila, and appreciating the fact that these boys were here on a little vacation we simply didn't have the heart to spoil their trip.

When Major Dent reads this he will let out a loud, disdainful gurgle, or maybe two or three of them, but they will be for home consumption down in the Philippines, where the generals and colonels of the army are sitting there on their big chargers waiting for a report from the major. The major, of course, will tell those military high muckymucks that the first games of the series, which his gang won, were the games that really counted.

THE FINALS COUNT

That stuff will go all right in the Philippines, where they really couldn't be expected to know much about baseball, but it will fool nobody in this town, which is a wise baseball town, and where all the fans know that it is the finals that count. Maskee the preliminary heats! They are merely what you might call the qualifying rounds. The old finals are what tell the story in every branch of sport from horse racing down to ping-pong and tiddle-de-winks.

Therefore, since Hoppy's gang won the all important final they are the undisputed champs. Manila papers please copy.

The score was six to three and the last seen of the soldiers they were beating a strategic retreat toward the Savoy.

Knowing that yesterday's game was the big one of the serious, and the only one that had a real bearing on the championship, the Shanghai skipper trotted out his pitching ace, Mr. Griffith, youngest brother of the world famous Clark Griffith who pitched the old Chicago Orphans to three straight pennants, and who is now manager of the Washington Americans and known as the "Old Fox." That's the kind of baseball families Capt'n Hoppy recruits his flingers from when he wants to win the final game of a crucial serious, which, as before stated, is the only game that really counts.

SOLDIERS WILT

When Major Dent and his vassals saw this bird Griffith out there on the mound they knew their goose was cooked, but one of the army rules is that you must keep a stiff upper lip even when you know the enemy has the numerical superiority and the necessary hand grenades to blow you clean out of your shell proofs, and to the credit of the Fort Mills boys it must be said of them that they stood their ground manfully.

Hoppy and Co. did one thing yesterday that didn't meet with the full approval of the customers, and that was to play half the game in the dark. In one way you couldn't blame the Shanghai gang for this, since it had been reported to them that certain of the soldiers had passed the remark that the local team was duck soup. Naturally this made the townies pretty sore, and so, just before the game started Hoppy called his athletes together and spoke to them as follows:

"These birds are saying that we are easy marks, and just for that we will let this final game which is the deciding game of the serious, drag along until it gets dark, and then we will step out there and trim them in the dark. What say, mates?"

"Can do!" said the mates.

Well, as stated, that didn't set very well with the Shanghai fans who are a reasonable lot and who didn't like to see Hoppy's crowd take advantage of the soldiers just because they were down. The fans were perfectly satisfied to have the home team win the final game of the serious, which, as mentioned, was the game that decided the championship. The fans asked: "Why rub it in?"

TWO BIG HOMERS

The outstanding features of the game were the two home run clouts of Hopkins and Griffith, the latter being the oldest brother of Old Fox Griffith himself. Hoppy's bust gave the soldier middle fielder the biggest job of leather chasing that has been thrust on him for many a long day, and the one that was hammered out by Griffith, first cousin of "Old Fox" Griffith who pitched the New York Yankees to four pennants, was scarcely less homerific.

The other big feature of the game was the fine pitching of the previously mentioned Mr. Griffith, favorite grand nephew of "Old Fox" Griffith, the guy that discovered Walter Johnson pitching water-melons direct from the bushes on his father's plantation in Virginia clear across the Appomatox river into a waiting freight car, and trained him from that raw beginning into the world's greatest mound artist.

With Griffith in the box, with all those baseball antecedents behind him, is it any wonder that Hoppy's crew won the final and deciding game of this crucial serious with the soldiers?

Certainly not!

Here are the fateful figgers: Read 'em, Major Dent, and weep:

Tea will be served between three and seven while mah jongg, bridge, tennis, dancing and glimpses into the future, as revealed by mysterious fortune tellers, will furnish amusement for the afternoon.

The committee asks that replies be sent to "Southern Section, 30 Route Pichon" and acceptances need not be conditioned by weather, since the fete will be held regardless of blue or lowering skies.

While cards have been sent out, should any friends of the club not receive the announcement it is hoped that they will regard this notice as sufficient invitation. Mrs. E. S. Cunningham and Mrs. C. B. Arthur are respectively Chairman and Vice-Chairman of this Division and the following are in charge of the entertainment: Mrs. C. S. Upson, publicity and bridge; Mesdames Kimball and Morris, mah jongg; Miss Margaret Powell, dancing; and Mr. Dawson, tennis.

British Minister Objects To Use Of Aeros By Wu Pei-fu

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, August 22.—On the ground that Paotingfu is at present employing for military purpose the ten aeroplanes sold to the Chinese Government by Great Britain, contrary to the agreement which provides that the above aeroplanes should not be employed for military use, the British Minister at Peking again has filed a protest with the Chinese diplomatic authorities.

It is now reported that the reply of Tsao Kun is that the aeroplanes in question having been purchased for commercial use, to be put on the Peking Hankow line, the authorities will see to it that they are used according to the agreement.

Ohio Congressmen Win Renomination

(China Press Service)

Columbus, Aug. 19.—All of Ohio's 22 congressmen except two who were candidates for other offices have apparently been renominated, the delegation being solidly republican. The republicans within the party who favored wine and beer, and the progressives have apparently been defeated.

Thompson, who began life as a coal miner and subsequently became an oil manager, leads the gubernatorial race by a big margin. He counts with the backing of the administration.

Japanese Embassy Issues Statement In Tilinsky Case

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 22.—The Japanese Embassy has issued a statement with reference to the Tilinsky affair, declaring that should anyone in England require evidence for use in courts regarding the documents in question it is prepared to furnish the necessary information.

[Note: The indictment against Izer de Tilinsky, whose case now comes before the Swiss courts, says, inter alia, that he arrived in Switzerland in 1911 claiming to hold credit on the Japanese Government for 348,000,000 francs, the price of the alleged betrayal of Port Arthur, and that he succeeded in borrowing on his pretended credit large sums in Zurich, Berne and other Swiss towns as he had already attempted to do in England, France, Germany and Belgium.

It is understood that high Japanese officials have verified the signature of Prince Arimoto Yamagata on the principal document while Mr. Shurmer Sibthorp states that the Japanese documents mentioned were submitted to one of the leading orientalists in London, who pronounced unequivocally in favor of their authenticity].

U. S. NAVY MAN IS HEAT VICTIM DURING CLIMB

Officer Of Finch Succumbs After Stroke At Chefoo

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, August 17.—Chefoo is having some heat and folk who have come to this holiday Paradise from inland cities say they do not experience summers that have been more trying than this one has been in Chefoo. It has certainly been most warm. Usually there is a spell of great heat for about two weeks in August, but this summer the heat has been sustained and it has been one of the longest bouts the port has experienced for several years. Bathing has been popular in consequence.

The only cool place appears to be the sea. The place is crowded with visitors while the presence of the American destroyers and the "Huron" have added numbers to the population.

The heat probably accounted for a sad death which occurred on Wednesday on the hills at the back of the China Inland Mission Compound. Two officers from the "Finch" went for a hike. First they journeyed to Temple Hill in ricshas and then struck out for the semi-circle of hills at the back here. Late in the afternoon they came to the base of the Taiping Range and started in to climb these. They varied the monotony of their walk by performing stunts and after one of these the executive officer of the "Finch" fell into a faint. His companion tried all that he knew to bring him round and then when he saw his efforts were not successful he sent a Chinaman on post haste with a note asking for assistance. But assistance was by that time of little use. His companion was beyond human skill.

Meantime the Chinaman walked in and got to the China Inland Mission Compound where a missionary read his note. The Navy Y.M.C.A. was at once 'phoned and a patrol was marched out to render assistance. It is thought here the hike proved too strenuous for the two officers. They had some nerve to attempt a walk such as they were doing at this time of year. Chefoo is too hot in summer for exercise such as the two officers were indulging in at the time the one poor fellow fell.

Tuesday afternoon was a great time for the women of Chefoo. Mrs. Strauss was at home on the "General Alava" and small boats took out the guests at regular intervals. Nearly all the women accepted the invitation of Mrs. Strauss and those who went had a delightful time on board.

Last Sunday afternoon the Navy "Y" entertained the officers and men who went ashore to afternoon tea at their headquarters. Secretary and Mrs. Brown and their workers are doing magnificently and the "Y" is a howling success. Every night crowds of the men go to see the movies or to enjoy the fine program of entertainments that is provided. And Chefoo residents also turn up in large numbers.

The Saturday night boxing is the piece de resistance of the whole week. On Saturday night there could not have been less than two thousand to see the fine series of bouts. The fights were well contested and the huge audience was greatly pleased with the whole show. The Huron band provided the music. This coming Saturday night there are to be more bouts and wrestling and on Sunday afternoon again there is to be a tea for the officers and men.

Stevens beat Saunders though handicapped, in a first rate game of tennis and showed that he is still the unbeaten champion of the local recreation tennis club. He is indeed a fine player and the man that eventually beats him will have to be some player.

There is a contingent of General Feng's men in Chefoo. On Sunday afternoon they went to the Chinese "Y" and this next Sunday night they are to be at the American Navy "Y". The local folk are very interested in seeing these men.

British Gunboat Carries Silk Cargo For Canton Dealers

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Aug. 20.—Early in the month the international silk dealers in Canton, because of the lack of transportation were unable to carry on their business. Consequently they appealed to the British Consul General who permitted them to use a small British gunboat for the handling of the silk. This boat made at least two trips on this service.

On the second trip while it was tied up at Shameen, the coolies and the police got into an argument, which resulted in a sympathy strike by the silk workers. This, however, was straightened out and work was resumed.

Defeated General Branded A Traitor

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, August 17.—General Yang Sen, the defeated commander of Chungking, is charged with high treason against Szechuen by General Tan Mao-hsin, Commander of the First Army which is now allied with General Liu Chen-hsun. In a circular telegram, he denounces Yang Sen as the betrayer of Szechuen, because Yang made presumptuous and premature arrangements with General Wu Pei-fu to bind Szechuen to northern militarism.

General Tan insists that troops of General Yang which have retreated to Fowchow and vicinity should be disarmed without delay, lest they should recuperate and regain enough strength to create disturbances.

Unusual panic reigned at Chungking when troops of General Tan and General Liu Chenhsun advanced to envelop Chungking last week. Yang Sen, being apprehensive of the dangerous situation he was in, determined to evacuate Chungking, but before leaving he demanded $2,000,000 from the Chungking Chamber of Commerce and the local gentry, threatening to abandon Chungking without caring for its peace and order.

Representatives of the Chamber did their best to squeeze local merchants and shops and made all efforts to raise the required money. On the eve of Yang Sen's departure, he was told definitely that the demand could not be complied with on account of the unusual difficulty in raising money during such crisis. Finally $50,000 was raised for General Yang and with the money Yang peacefully retreated with his men.

Impressive Memorial Is Held To Honor Madame Kan Yu-wei

Funeral Procession Friday To Be Followed By Burial In Maoshan

A memorial service in honor of Madame Kan Yu-wei, wife of the noted reformer who passed away last month, was held at her residence at 34 Yu Yuen Road yesterday. Scrolls of eulogies from princes of the Manchu dynasty and high administrative, military and civil authorities were received by the family for the occasion.

The funeral procession for the deceased will take place on Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The remains will be shipped from Jessfield Village, Zau Ka Doo, to Maoshan of Kingtanhsien, Kiangsu, for burial.

A unique feature of the funeral is that the coffin is painted red instead of the somber black. The cover bears an image of the deceased lady much in the same manner as the image on the cover of an Egyptian mummy.

New Radio Device Transmits Typed Wireless Messages

(China Press Service)

Washington, Aug. 19.—The navy department has announced the development of a radio apparatus known as the "teletype," which makes it possible to transmit typewritten messages to ground stations, where they are automatically reproduced in type, or vice versa.

It is officially announced that this is a marked advance, enabling explicit directions to be given to scouting and combat units from fight commanders, and enabling the scouts to communicate completely with their commanders.

Fine weather tonight; probable change tomorrow. The depression of Formosa will advance slowly towards N.W., slackened by the big typhoon in the East. The last one threatens Nippon and Kiusiu, but may be attracted towards the Eastern Sea and the Yellow Sea by the minimum that is approaching us.

Morals In The News

A MONTH or two ago we received a letter from a lady in the interior who entered a gentle protest against the tone of our news pictures. They seemed to her to be verging toward the immoral. We wrote to her for specific instances and she sent us in one clipping from the paper. It was the photo of the young lady who had won first prize for having the prettiest legs in Chicago.

Readers may recall that we indulged our artistic perceptions in a brief comment at the time. The picture revealed the young lady's legs to the knees. Our contention was that all Art, in whatever form pursued, is an exalted and even spiritual striving within us to impart to others that which we deem beautiful. We come upon a passage in a book or a play: a sunset suddenly seen whose glory stops our breath and turns us to think of God. How sad if there is no one present to whom we can pour out what we feel!

But now, more recently we have received from another lady, also living in the interior, the same complaint about our news pictures. Dutifully we wrote and asked her to name the instances. She sent in the picture of the young nurse working in a hospital who sued a young doctor, an interne, in the same hospital, for $25,000 because he kissed her twice. Our caption read "Values her kisses at $12,500 each." The picture revealed only the girl's face and shoulders. The kisses had been administered several years apart.

Now this picture and story impressed our protesting reader as immoral and unfit for publication. Maybe she is right. She is welcome to her viewpoint, but we also wish to express ours, which is, morally purblind though we may be, that we have seldom if ever published a picture and story more moral than this one.

What are the moral values in this instance? Certainly different from those involved in the first complaint. Henry Sydnor Harrison in his recent great novel "Saint" Teresa, indicates what a girl may think of her first kiss filched from her against her will. His heroine nearly bites the hero's lip off and then knocks him senseless with a fire-shovel. "That kiss put a scar on my heart" she says afterwards.

But about the young nurse in the hospital. It is clear that she is a sensitive and self-respecting girl. Perhaps there wasn't a fire-shovel present when the doctor kissed her the first time, and anyway, all girls are not of the tigress type. Some of them are modest and shy. Most of them are. They are more likely to burst into tears and run away from their insulter, and afterwards, rather than have talk, keep their own counsel. We have some indication of what this girl did. She told the doctor what she thought of him. Probably she wanted to expose his infamy. In her mind he deserved exposure and public humiliation. But her own maidenly reserve and likely his apologies and promises for the future led to the other decision. If he had not offended again he would have been safe so far as she was concerned. But when after several years he repeated the insult she felt that he was too vile to remain unexposed. He was a menace not only to her but to other girls.

Thus far along, what was she to do? Complain to the hospital authorities and try to bring about his dismissal? In this course she might fail. Even if she succeeded in driving him out of the hospital, the hospital people would make no public announcement of the cause. No, it was her duty publicly to expose him. It was a moral duty and her decision was for the good not only of herself but of other girls. She was making a martyr of herself. This man in her opinion was a fiend, a menace to all good women. He ought to be publicly pilloried and whipped. But there is no public pillory and no public whipping post.

She might horsewhip him and thus bring public attention to his insults. But if he took his whipping and made no complaint the newspapers would not get hold of the matter. She could however bring suit against him. Through her lawyer she would tell her story and from the court records the newspapers would get it. And it would be their moral duty to print the story and give it such prominence as the other news of the day allowed.

So she filed her suit, the newspapers got the story, and it, with her picture, appeared in newspapers all over the world, as a clear, trumpet-warning to offenders of this sort, of what is coming to them, wherever they may be.

And in our opinion, the newspaper which had declined to print this story would have committed an act as immoral as that of the philandering young doctor.

Our Leisure Class

BY Wm. ALLEN WHITE

George Horace Lorimer, editor of "The Saturday Evening Post," is the world's best editor, and when he said the other day that women were destined to rule the world men should stop and listen. For Lorimer knows. In another age he would have been a major prophet. His instinct for the tendencies, needs and aspirations of the American public probably is greater than that of any other living American public man. In his day Roosevelt was his only rival. So when Lorimer says that women are to rule the world, mamma and the girls should begin to practice reigning.

As a matter of fact, the world is ruled by its leisure classes. And mamma and the girls are about the only members of the leisure classes which a busy and excited generation has left. The wire and the pipe have given woman her freedom; not entire freedom. She still has to see to the housework, have the babies and manage the domestic affairs of her men. But housework is to an unbelievable extent a matter of pressing buttons, turning faucets and telephoning to some one to come and do something. So mamma and the girls have their hours of ease.

They read our newspapers for us, censor our books, accept or reject our play and direct much public sentiment. They are intensely interested in politics as it affects the home. Hence the growing interest in domestic measures, and the growing number of food inspectors, milk experts, market comptrollers and the prevalence of controversies about the price of light, heat and water and power. Mamma and the girls are on the job.

It's not destined to be an easy job, this matter of governing man. For he is recalcitrant and hates high taxes. But what do mamma and the girls care? So they will have it out with father as they have had it out with him for 10,000 years. It may be the new heaven for mamma but it's the same old earth for father. Mother will rule, but father will keep on kicking as it was in the beginning and shall be ever after. Mr. Lorimer is right, with reservations.

A Smithsonian Medley

BY E. W. OSBORN

We suggest that it has escaped the attention of the many how air pushed north blows east; how rain dries the air; that more air goes up than ever comes down; that to warm the air one cools it; that the coldest air covers the warmest earth; that as the sun descends the temperature ascends; that the hotter the sun the cooler the earth; that the cooler the sun the warmer the earth; that the sun rises before it gets up and, vice versa, sets after it is down.

These things may mean little to you in your busy days. They will neither atone for Prohibition nor give first aid to such as are in doubt on the question of where to spend a vacation. They have, nevertheless, been found out for you at an expense, some of which adds itself automatically to your income tax. It will do you no harm to know that they figure in an article on meteorological paradoxes in the report of the Smithsonian Institution as it has just come from the Government Printing Office at Washington. It is comforting always to be sure where one may find at a moment's notice even the fact he is never sure of wanting.

Another thing certain is that Uncle Sam as a publisher does not do things by the half. If the truth were to the contrary, this Smithsonian book would have but 352 pages instead of 704, and the job of getting a review out of it—a task attempted by few and possibly survived by fewer—would be by so much reduced in its demands. We make this point casually and in no spirit of complaint. It fusses us not at all that the report before us passes in due course from paradoxes to such affairs as the determination of the structure of crystals and the final relation of parasitism and symbiosis to the problem of evolution. We are at perfect liberty to skip the paper with the hard names and take up with vitamins at precisely the place where Prof. W. D. Halliburton lays the known facts down.

The professor admits that while life without vitamins cannot continue the role of these interesting little factors is not as yet fully defined. Quantitatively they may be regarded, he suggests, as filling to the living human system the need which in building operations is met by the cement holding the stones together. If your materials seem to be crumbling apart, you pour in a little milk, let us say, and health can at once be reestablished. Milk is a natural food, and "foods as they occur in nature contain the accessory factors necessary for growth and maintenance." It seems that vitamins are "treated" and "purified" out of so many "sophisticated foods" now on the market that "it is most important to the dietitian to remember that these are but poor substitutes for the foods which are made in nature's laboratories."

The vitamin, we gather, is a first essential toward achieving a return to normalcy.

Leaving the vitamins behind, we leap such obstacles as long papers on soil acidity, on the earth's crust and on the horned dinosaur to find our attention attracted to a brief chapter on rhythm in nature. The seasonable changes in plant life and the migrations of birds and beasts are among the matters presented to us as evidence that life is essentially a rhythmic phenomenon. And we are asked to regard it as an evident condition that "the sense of rhythm, which forms so large a part of the pleasure conveyed by all the higher forms of art, results from the successful expression by man of his appreciation of the ordered and measured bow of his own nature and of the world about him."

We have seen than this no argument better calculated to add haste to the fight already will and fortunately begun, of the disciples of free verse. Nature's poetry follows the old order.

After this note on rhythm it would seem to be quite the thing to linger over the chapter, a few pages further on, describing the adventures of the fiddler crab. This paper is happily illustrated. We are prepared to state that never in our incursions into the world of music have we seen so many and such whimsical manifestationa of the fiddler's temperament.

However, there are fiddlers and fiddlers, with uses and uses. That one of the crab variety appears to round out his little life chiefly by furnishing food, first for children's laughter and then for unfeeling companions of the sea's nearer shallows. "There must," writes our contributing scholar, "be large numbers of young fiddlers growing up each year to take the place of those that feed blue crabs and fishes."

"Insects," begins a writer on page 461 of our Report, "like all other animals, acquire their information concerning the world into a large and possibly perilous contract in denunciation.

We notice near the finish of the report in hand an apparently exhaustive paper on the subject of Mexican dancers and music. Scanning the pages with all a practising reviewer's sharpness, we fail to find a reference to the alleged Mexican readiness to make some other dancer pay the fiddler.

Cleveland

Brief Biography of an "Admirable American"

"Grover Cleveland, a Study in Political Courage," is the first of a series of biographical sketches concerning certain "Admirable Americans," by Roland Hugins (Anchor-Lee Publishing company, Washington, D. C.). It is at least different from much biography in its brevity and in its lack of satire.

At this date Cleveland is judged without partisanship; his moral courage, firmness, industry, independence, and personal honesty are appreciated. Not a college man, he succeeded through innate capacity, ambition and perseverance, and early proved able to handle vexing situations diplomatically. Yet he was a man of high standards—such a man as would have many enemies and who therefore would often be misunderstood—and there were numerous ebb tides in his popularity, though when he died, 1908, he was recognised as one of America's keenest political thinkers.

He first came into political prominence as mayor of Buffalo, and treated that city to an eye-opening administration of city economy, vetoing measures cunningly calculated to "get by" through specious patriotic appeal. His "plain speech veto" and reforms attracted attention at Albany, and next year he was overwhelmingly elected governor of New York. In this position he lived up to his reputation for honesty, courage and common sense and instituted noted reforms.

The author tells interestingly and concisely the notable campaign of '84 between Blaine and Cleveland. Inevitably, the first Democratic president in 24 years would be swamped with office seekers. This pressure Cleveland yielded to but warily. This is one of the reasons for his defeat by Harrison in 1888.

The McKinley bill, a mile-high protective measure, passed early in Harrison's term, brought dissatisfaction with its resultant high prices, and the public turned again to Cleveland. Returning to the White House in high favor, he faced a four years filled with grave issues. With each succeeding crisis he alienated more of his public, save on the Venezuelan boundary question. Here the country was squarely back of him.

Washington simply gasped over his executive order, wherein he declined to see office seekers save at his own motion. With the panic of '93 came strikes and lockouts; labor assumed a belligerent temper; Coxey's army was abroad, and Mr. Debs, then a young man, was beginning to gain influence. Bryan and free silver had carried away the Democratic party. In the convention of '96 Cleveland with his plea for the gold standard went down to defeat.

Short chapters concerning Cleveland's personal life, public utterances, correspondence and anecdotes close the small book. The author emphasises Cleveland's graciousness, and mentions one of his earliest acts as president, the restoring to Gen. Grant in 1885 the rank and pay of general, when Grant was in financial straits. To Cleveland a public office was a public trust and his problem the confronting of conditions, not theories.

The Lure Of Great Men

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
(Eminent Astronomer and Author ly on Subjects of Scientific Interest)

Hearing the other day a missionary song that I used often to luxuriate in when I was a Sunday school boy in a country church: "There's a cry from Macedonia, 'Come and help us,'" I fell into a kind of philosophical mood, such as often throws light on the mental tendencies exhibited in our early experiences, when we were not yet capable of analysing them, or felt no wish to do so. In the peculiar and powerful influence that that song exercised over me—some thrilling vibration of which I felt upon hearing it again after so many years—it is easy to recognise the fact that I was born a "hero worshipper," not, however, in any subservient sense, I hope, and that I still belong in that category o human kind.

I am one of those who believe in great men and their leadership To illustrate—I think that the colonists would inevitably have lost our Revolutionary War, but for George Washington; that astronomy would have remained for another hundred or thousan years, in its ill-fitting swaddlin clothes if Copernicus, Galileo Kepler, and Tycho Brahe had not arisen; that the personal merit o Columbus in the discovery o America is superior to any tendenc of his age, though Columbus' character was probably the con centrated expression of the gathe ing power of a world-wide dispos tion, as a thunderbolt is a con centration of the electric energie in a cloud.

I believe, too, that the providence of history fashion its great men, its instruments, for the purpose that they serve, and that they are not mere accidents which might have turned out differently but for favorable environment and good luck. A great character, though bound by destiny, may often make environment and command fortune We may never solve the mystery o the combination of fate with free will, but though a great man i an instrument he is never a mer machine.

In the case of the song mentioned above it was not the missionaries carrying the gospel to a heathen land that stirred my imagination and my enthusiasm for human greatness, but it was the strangely recalled memory of Alexander of Macedon, "Alexander the Great." Simply to encounter the name of Macedonia yet living outside of the pages of Plutarch was thrilling to me.

It filled me with an indescribable sensation thus to find Macedonia—that great name, that wonderful land from which the resistless Macedonian phalanx marched to the conquest of all the wonderful East, led by the hero of heroes, the invincible, world-dazzling Alexander!—still really existing on this earth, in these modern times, and now calling for aid. I felt how proud I should be to answer such a call; how proud the missionaries ought to be. To go to the rescue of the land of Alexander—what matchless glory!

The music of the song has a certain stirring power, a kind of martial swing and step, and I used to join in the singing with boyish voice, standing very erect and tingling to my finger tips with an enthusiasm the origin of which would have been a great surprise and incomprehensible deception to the majority of my elders and fellow singers, who, I was aware knew nothing of Plutarch, and perhaps had never read the name of Alexander the Great. But for me this was his music, and while the charm lasted I was in a paradise of the imagination, feeling that I was fighting, if not under the eye of the greatest of soldiers and of victory winners, at least in his cause, since it was Macedonia that demanded aid.

There was, too, a mingled sentiment of pride and satisfaction in the thought that we of these far later and tamer days could carry succor to the inheritors of the home and the fame of the conquerors of Darius, the great "king of kings," and of Babylon the mighty. I could imagine that I saw Alexander himself welcoming us, come from the far West, across the seas, to answer the cry of his people.

No one, however, ever guessed what was passing in my overwrought soul, or why there were sometimes tears on my lids—tears of gratified pride; or why I had, as I imagined, so soldierly a bearing. If some had known the secret I should have been rebuked. Boys are often scolded for following the lure of their day dreams, but such rebukes are not always either wise or just.

I have followed many such lures —and I do not believe that they have led me into any harm. They are not harmful, but helpful, when they are born of a familiar study of history, of human character, of great heroes and leaders and discoverers, and of the facts and scenes of nature.

All of these things need a certain leaven of the imagination in order that they may enter into the structure of the individual character, enriching the mind, widening its scope of thought and sympathy, and giving that greatest of all personal possessions, a store of self-won and self-tested intellectual and moral resources.

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician knowing of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics,

Ten Percent Greater Cotton Growing Area In States This Year

The following report has just been received by the Shanghai office of the American Commercial Attache:

"The Crop Reporting Board of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture estimates, from the reports of the correspondents and agents of the Bureau, that the area of cotton in cultivation this year (1922) in the United States is about 34,852,000 acres, as compared with 31,678,000 acres, the revised estimate of acreage in cultivation a year ago, being an increase of 7,174,000 acres, or 10 percent.

"The condition of the growing crop on June 25 was 71.2 percent of a normal condition, as compared with 69.6 on May 25, 1922, 69.2 on June 25, 1921, and 76.9 the average condition for the past ten years on June 25.

"A condition of 71.2 on June 25 forecasts a yield per acre of about 151.9 pounds and a total production of about 11,055,000 bales. The final outturn may be larger or smaller than this amount according as conditions developing during the remainder of the season prove more or less favorable crop than average. Last year the production was 7,953,641 bales, two years ago 13,439,403, three years ago 11,420,763, and four years ago 12,040,532 bales."

Spot and forward bar silver were each down ¼d in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 69-⅛ cents and the London New York cross rate to 447-¾.

Our official rates here today were unchanged from yesterday and the market while at times showing signs of easiness, was on the whole steady throughout the morning, particularly at the close.

Some business in Sterling was done at 35⅛ and in gold dollars at 76⅝ but there were at all times sellers at these rates.

At the close there were sellers of sterling at 35¼ and of gold dollars at 77 for all deliveries up to the end of the year, with buyers at 35 5-16 and 77⅛ respectively.

Banks were quoting 3-6 for sterling bills today, 78½ for gold dollar bills and 1,000 for franc bills.

However there were practically no bills in the market.

India and China sold silver in London yesterday and speculators bought.

The market closed steady.

The New York market is easy with more sellers than buyers at the official rate.
